Centers at Mason

“At George Mason University organized research and scholarship is recognized as a cornerstone to the creation of new knowledge and the enrichment of our students, faculty, and staff. Achievements in research span every school, college, and institute at George Mason. Research is conducted through centers, laboratories and collaborative programs both on and off campus. Creating an eclectic environment that provides the flexibility needed to integrate instructional activities, scientific inquiry, and humanitarian need is moving the university into the front rank of research institutions.” The above web site gives a description of the center/institute and their contact information.
